

GSA Campus Representative Program Description

Overview

Welcome to the GSA Campus Representative program. You are vital part of a network of over 500 spokespersons for GSA on two- and four-year college and university campuses across the United States and abroad. You represent, in large part, the strength of the Society in future years.

Your primary job as a Campus Rep is to advocate for the Society and its mission to students and professional colleagues in the geosciences. As a Campus Rep, you are available to answer questions and disseminate information about the Society, and are ambassadors for GSA.

What to Expect

We will communicate with you primarily through email. In addition, you will receive two packets of materials each year in the mail that contain a variety of timely resources, including information about GSA annual and section meetings, student programs, and membership. In addition, a PowerPoint presentation is available for downloading from the GSA Website to aid you in speaking about the benefits of GSA, at <http://www.geosociety.org/flyers/0709campusreps.ppt>

You will be invited to an Appreciation Event at the GSA Annual Meeting each year that you serve.

The amount of time that you spend in service as a GSA Campus Rep can vary widely. We hope that you will actively support the good work of the Society.

Eligibility and Term of Service

As a GSA Campus Rep, you need only be a member of the Society, with a willingness to promote GSA membership and activities.

You may serve as long as mutually agreeable to both you and GSA. You may terminate your service as a GSA Campus Rep at any time by notifying the program coordinator.

Support

GSA is grateful to all our Campus Rep volunteers. Please give us any comments and suggestions as to how we can improve this program, or let us know any time how we can assist you in your work on behalf of GSA.
