Overview
Welcome to the GSA Campus Representative program. You are a vital part of a network of nearly 600 spokespersons for GSA on two- and four-year college and university campuses worldwide. You represent, in large part, the strength of the Society in future years.

Your primary job as a Campus Rep is to advocate for the Society and its mission to students and professional colleagues in the geosciences. As a Campus Rep, you are available to answer questions and disseminate information about the Society, and are an ambassador for GSA.

What to Expect
We will communicate with you primarily through email several times a year. In addition, you will receive a mailing in the fall each year, including posters about membership, the annual and section meetings, and student programs.

You will be invited to an Appreciation breakfast at the GSA Annual Meeting each year that you serve.

The amount of time that you spend in service as a GSA Campus Rep can vary widely. We hope that you will actively support the good work of the Society.

Eligibility and Term of Service
As a GSA Campus Rep, you need only be a member of the Society, with a willingness to promote GSA membership and activities.

You may serve as long as mutually agreeable to both you and GSA. You may terminate your service as a GSA Campus Rep at any time by notifying the program coordinator.

Support
GSA is grateful to all our Campus Rep volunteers. Please give us any comments and suggestions as to how we can improve this program, or let us know any time how we can assist you in your work on behalf of GSA.

Resources
The online toolbox on the Campus Reps webpage at http://www.geosociety.org/members/campus.asp has GSA materials to view, download or order. You also may contact us at any time with questions.
