

34TH INTERNATIONAL GEOLOGICAL CONGRESS (IGC)
STUDENTS AND EARLY CAREER SCIENTISTS TRAVEL GRANT
AND MENTORING PROGRAM

5-10 AUGUST, 2012

The GSA Foundation, the U.S. National Committee for Geological Sciences of the National Academy of Sciences, Shell, Inc., and the American Geosciences Institute are excited to announce a travel grant and mentoring program for students and early career scientists who are enrolled in, or employed at, U.S. institutions. Early career scientists are defined as those within 7 years of receiving their Ph.D. Each award is anticipated to be a maximum of $3,000.

To apply, please submit the following items by 17 February, 2012, to <http://www.geosociety.org/grants/travel.htm>:

- An on-line application/résumé,
- Proof of abstract submission as first author and a copy of the submitted abstract,
- A record of relevant courses and grades (students only),
- Two letters of recommendation, and a
- Cover letter addressing your reasons for attending the meeting and a prioritized budget of expenses.

CONTACT

JENNIFER NOCERINO
Program Officer
Education & Outreach
The Geological Society of America
Phone: 303-357-1036
E-mail: jnocerino@geosociety.org

