

SPECIALIZED AWARDS

DIVERSITY IN THE GEOSCIENCES MINORITY RESEARCH GRANT AWARDS

Two research grant applications, selected from minority graduate student submissions, were found to be of exceptionally high merit in conception and presentation by the GSA Diversity in the Geosciences Committee, and will be recognized with a cash award of US$500 each: Yamira Adorno-Negron, University of Nebraska, "Isotope geochemistry, petrography and diagenesis of Permian carbonates from the Yuzhno Kilchuyu (YK) field, Timan-Pechora Basin, Russia"; and Orlando Teran, Centro de Investigación Científica y de Educación Superior de Ensenada (CICESE), "Kinematics and tectonic evolution of the rifted margin of the Rio Grande rift, Culebra Range, Colorado."

FAROUK EL-BAZ STUDENT RESEARCH GRANT

This fund was established to encourage and support desert studies by students worldwide who are either in their senior year of undergraduate studies, or at the master's or Ph.D. level. This year's two awardees will receive a cash award of US$2,500 each: Justine R. Cullen, University of the Fraser Valley–British Columbia, "Determining an optimal protocol for optically-stimulated luminescence of sand dunes in the drylands of central Canada"; and Stefan T. Knopp, University of Calgary–Alberta, "Near-surface diagenetic processes and their implication for landscape evolution in desert environments: An example from the Late Jurassic to Early Cretaceous of the western interior U.S.A."

THE MAURICE "RIC" TERMAN FUND

This grant fund provides support for one year of Ph.D. and post-doctoral research for scientists from the following East Asian countries: Cambodia, China, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Papua New Guinea, Thailand, and Vietnam. The recipients for 2009 were Nguyen Thi Hai Van of Vietnam and Namphon Khampilang of Thailand.
