GSA BOOKS COVER ART

Do you have an exciting image you'd like to see on the cover of your book?

Authors (for authored books) or volume editors (for edited collections) should provide two or three color images relevant to the material in the volume (with captions and credits), and we will choose one for the cover.

High-resolution digital images are best, followed by slides or photographs. Once a preliminary cover has been designed, we will send the layout to the volume editors for review. For additional information on color and digital photograph submissions, please see the Figure Guidelines.
